

*Cooperation for Peace and Prosperity at SEA

CAPT Motonari Adachi

Director of International Affairs

 海上保安庁

JAPAN COAST GUARD

Asian Coast Guard, the Role to be required under the current maritime security environment

Historically, coast guards have ensured maritime safety and security through organizing SAR operations, maintaining maritime order, conserving the natural environment, and other duties. These duties are linked with other countries via the ocean and thus, it is vital to cooperate and collaborate with foreign coast guards.

New Maritime Era in Asia

Maritime Interests

becoming keen in Asia

Maritime Crimes

becoming global & borderless,

Accidents & Disasters

becoming extensive

Establishment of Coast Guard as a Non-military Agency

Asian

countries established Coast Guard to utilize white ships rather than gray ships

This unique trend is a paradigm shift to respond globalized maritime incidents while preventing maritime conflicts from escalating into military conflicts.

1948: Japan

1953: South Korea

1998: Philippines

2005: Malaysia

2013: China

2013: Vietnam

2014: Indonesia

Cooperation, Shield, and the Rule of Law

Coast Guard Relationship should be based on Cooperation

Coast Guards should comply with the Rule of Law

Coast Guards should be a Shield of peace

Coast Guard as a Buffer function can increase the possibility of peaceful settlement of a conflict b/w nations over maritime interests.

Regional Cooperation for Peace and Prosperity

Communication

For mutual understandings

Cooperation

For sharing experiences

Coordination

For joint operations

Asian coast guards have discussed how to strengthen the coast guard connection by developing multilayered communication mechanism at HACGAM. JCG has also strengthen the communication through bilateral and multilateral scenes.

Future, what coast guards should think

Challenges

Natural Environment

Large-scale Disasters

Northern Sea Route

Social Environment

Terrorism and Extremism

Transnational crimes

Actions

Individual is poor

Bilateral is still not enough

Regional is acceptable

Global cooperation is required

Asian Coast Guard, the Role to be required under the current maritime security environment

Historically, coast guards have ensured maritime safety and security through organizing SAR operations, maintaining maritime order, conserving the natural environment, and other duties. These duties are linked with other countries via the ocean and thus, it is vital to cooperate and collaborate with foreign coast guards.

JAPAN COAST GUARD

The First Responders and Front-line Actors

New Maritime Era in Asia

Maritime Interests becoming keen in Asia

Maritime Crimes becoming global & borderless, Accidents & Disasters becoming extensive

Establishment of Coast Guard as a Non-military Agency

Asian countries established Coast Guard to utilize white ships rather than gray ships

This unique trend is a paradigm shift to respond globalized maritime incidents while preventing maritime conflicts from escalating into military conflicts.

1948: Japan
1953: South Korea
1998: Philippines
2005: Malaysia
2013: China
2013: Vietnam
2014: Indonesia

JAPAN COAST GUARD

Three principles of Coast Guard Role in Asia

Cooperation, Shield, and the Rule of Law

Coast Guard Relationship should be based on Cooperation

Coast Guards should be a Shield of peace

Coast Guards should comply with the Rule of Law

Coast Guard as a buffer function can increase the possibility of peaceful settlement of a conflict b/w nations over maritime interests.

JAPAN COAST GUARD

Regional Cooperation for Peace and Prosperity

JAPAN COAST GUARD

Open Up the Future Together

Three Cs for Coast Guard Connection

- Communication
For mutual understandings
- Cooperation
For sharing experiences
- Coordination
For joint operations

Strengthening coast guard connection

Asian coast guards have discussed how to strengthen the coast guard connection by developing multilayered communication mechanism at HAACGAM. JCG has also strengthen the communication through bilateral and multilateral scenes.

Future, what coast guards should think

JAPAN COAST GUARD

From Region to Global, collaborative power for new challenges

Challenges

- Natural Environment
  - Large-scale Disasters
  - Northern Sea Route
- Social Environment
  - Terrorism and Extremism
  - Transnational crimes

Actions

- Individual is poor
- Bilateral is still not enough
- Regional is acceptable
- Global cooperation is required

