real threats

illicit uranium trafficking there is need for outside help; not a threat, but something that came up in case of calamities

Asia as a hub for infectious diseases

Dual-Use research on biological agents

Awareness

find the decision makers different portals are available, but are not necessarily actively targetting specific audiences it is crucial to include the education system, as they are training the next generation of scientists in communication, even core messages need to be carefully made, to not scare people

Sustainability

find the decision makers: need government buy in equipment would require long-term costs, so they won't look as appealing as quick wins capacity building is key
