

Maritime security

Brief introduction
To Sri Lanka Navy's experience with Asymmetrical threats in 2008/09

'SPILL-OVER' EFFECT

increased use of submersibles & semi-submersibles for
terrorist activities
..fg-narcosub6.htm

This vessel was arrested by Costa Rican Coast Guard Carrying a load of Heroin to USA ON 26TH Nov 2006. A person with known LTTE connection was present in the vessel at the time of mid-sea arrest.

'SPILL-OVER' EFFECT increased use of submersibles & semi-submersibles for terrorist activities

COLOMBIAN SEMI-SUBMERSIBLES
TO SMUGGLE DRUGS
_0.1518.562603.00.html
(13 boats captured, each 55 feet in length with 350hp Cummins Diesel)

Semi-submersible captured
By advancing Army troops in a
LTTE strong hold

'SPILL-OVER' EFFECT
increased use of submersible
& semi-submersibles for
terrorist activities

Colombian drug boats under custody

LTTE boats under construction

Construction of UW barge
In one of the foreign boatyards
Belongs to a
LTTE sympathiser

Captured boats in LTTE strong hold

COST OF ASYMMETRICAL WARFARE

Mere 1500 US$ against 3.2 Million US$

COMMERCIAL-OFF
THE-SHELF ITEMS
FOR DESTRUCTIVE
PURPOSES

Cost of counter-action for Asymmetrical threats

Thank you

05th March 2009
ARF-Surabaya