

Walk hands in hands toward an information era:
Shaping a peaceful, secure, open and cooperative cyberspace

Roles of States in Cyberspace

- ◆ the peace keeper
- ◆ the inheritor of cyber sovereignty
- ◆ the equal participant of the global governance on Internet
- ◆ the facilitator of international cooperation

How to promote and ensure the Role of the State in Cyberspace

Top Priority: norms of behavior

- international norms of responsible States' behaviour deemed as the cornerstone
- the proposal on table: a draft of International Code of Conduct for Information Security (A/66/359) put forward by SCO members in 2011

UN as the Major Platform

The United Nations should play the leading role.

Priorities of ARF countries on cyber cooperation

- Formulate regional code of conduct in cyberspace ASAP, which should not be neglected in the ARF work plan under discussion.
- Strengthen the pragmatic cooperation of mutual benefits.
- Assist developing countries in capacity-building on cyber security.
